Paycheck Protection Program

The Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act was recently passed to provide emergency relief for certain businesses, nonprofit organizations and independent contractors disrupted by the current COVID-19 situation. Part of the act is the Paycheck Protection Program, which allows financial institutions to provide federally backed, potentially forgivable loans to eligible businesses.

How does the program work?

- The Paycheck Protection Program is a low interest rate loan that may be partially or fully forgiven by the Federal government
- It is intended to be a stimulus and to provide funds for payroll and mortgage interest or rent and utilities to help businesses during this difficult time
- It is a 24 month loan at 1% with the first payment deferred for the first six months
- You will owe money when your loan is due if you use the loan amount for anything other than payroll costs, mortgage interest, rent and utilities payments over the eight weeks after getting the loan
- Not more than 25% of the forgiven amount may be for non-payroll costs
- You will also owe money if you do not maintain your staff and payroll
  - Number of staff – your loan forgiveness will be reduced if you decrease your full-time employee headcount
  - Level of payroll – your loan forgiveness will also be reduced if you decrease salaries and wages by more than 25% for any employee that made less than $100,000 annualized in 2019
  - Rehiring – you have until June 30, 2020 to restore your full-time employment and salary levels for any changes made between February 15, 2020 and April 26, 2020
